The Ultimo Sydney: I'd pick this one for its easygoing vibe—low-key rooms (some with terraces) and a relaxed restaurant make it feel like a proper Sydney hideaway. With 4 stars and a 4.1/5 from 939 reviews, it's clearly a crowd-pleaser without the pretence. It's rare to find a pet-friendly, kid-friendly, accessible, smoke-free stay in one spot, plus free Wi-Fi and air-con keep things comfy. If you want a straightforward base at $416 per night with the convenience of paid parking, this hotel nails hassle-free city stays.

Book me cheap hotel in sydney, pet-friendly, for 2 adults and 1 child (4) from Nov 22-25

Love it—Sydney with your little one and a furry friend? I've lined up pet-friendly, good-value picks for 2 adults + 1 child for Nov 22–25 (3 nights). These all have family-friendly layouts and allow pets in designated rooms (fees usually apply).

- The Hughenden Hotel (Woollahra)

Heritage boutique right by Centennial Park (great for dog walks). Known for welcoming pets; family rooms available and cafés everywhere.

- The Ultimo (Haymarket)

Central, walk to Darling Harbour/Chinatown. Has dedicated pet-friendly rooms and family options; super easy for public transport and food.

- Veriu Camperdown (Inner West)

Apartment-style suites with kitchenettes and some with sofa beds—handy with a 4-year-old. Pet-friendly on request; good value and space.

- Veriu Green Square (Alexandria)

Modern 4-star near Green Square station; fast to the CBD and airport. Pet-friendly on request; some rooms with kitchenettes.

Next steps so I can lock the cheapest pet-friendly room:

- Can you confirm the year (Nov 22–25, 2025)?
- What's your target budget per night in AUD?
- Pup details (dog/cat, approx. weight), and do you need a balcony/near a park?
- Bed setup preference (1 queen + sofa bed vs 2 beds), and do you need a cot?
- Will you need parking?

Once you confirm, I'll check live availability, pet-room fees, and free-cancellation deals, then hold the best option for you.
